ENGLISH COMMUNICATION

English for Native and Non-Native Speakers: This course of study is designed to help the native and non-native speakers of English communicate more effectively to diminish the instances of miscommunication. A thorough study of formal and informal speech and its socio-linguistic ramifications are discussed. This course is both theoretical with the opportunity for practice.

Business English: This course of study affords the businessperson with a global understanding of how to communicate effectively in the business world. This practical course of study provides the theories of communication in the written English language across various virtual modalities as well as practice in using what has been learned.
